It's a month long challenge of building a beautiful sampler-style quilt, and I'm gonna show you how to do that day by day starting with more simple blocks and gradually growing to more complex blocks. - [Ashley] This top is really light and airy, and it works well open or you could even use a belt to close it. Therefore we've named it the Butterfly Wrap. - [David] With a basic tips and pointers, as well as some proportion rules, you'll be able to draw much more expressive and realistic hands and feet. - [Natalie] These cards are inspired by nature and my love of gardening. If you're looking for a fast project with some dimension, this is the project for you. - [Courtney] I'm gonna bring a little bit of the moon into your homes by making this really simply Lunar Night Light so that when you turn your night light on, it really feels like you're looking at the moon. The moon provides a lot of inspiration. It can be very mysterious and also very graphic, and we're gonna use that as inspiration for our Phases of the Moon Wall Hanging. - [Faith] Whether you're into astrology or astronomy, these 12 different patterns are beautiful and simple.
